Special Note: Six Year Graduation Rate

In compliance with the Student Right to Know Act, Dickinson State University provides the following graduation rate information.

The Student Right to Know Act graduation rate is a specific calculation that includes only the following population: full-time, first-time, undergraduate, degree/certificate seeking students who enroll at Dickinson State University during a fall quarter or during the summer immediately preceding the fall quarter in which the student enrolls full time.

This population is identified each year and followed for up to 6 years to determine the percentage of graduating students. Because a large portion of Dickinson State University's students are either part-time students, online, international or transfer students who have previously attended a higher education institution, this rate represents a very small fraction of the University's student body.
