Special Note: Six Year Graduation Rate

- In compliance with the Student Right to Know Act, Dickinson State University provides the following graduation rate information.
- The Student Right to Know Act graduation rate is a specific calculation that includes only the following population: full-time, first-time, undergraduate, degree/certificate seeking students who enroll at Dickinson State University during a fall quarter or during the summer immediately preceding the fall quarter in which the student enrolls full time.
- This population is identified each year and followed for up to 6 years to determine the percentage of graduating students. Because a large portion of Dickinson State University's students are either part-time students, online, international or transfer students who have previously attended a higher education institution, this rate represents a very small fraction of the University's student body
